Environetics Ranked in the Top 25 of Los Angeles' Commercial Interior Design Firms

LOS ANGELES, Calif., October 30, 2007 – For the third year in a row, Environetics, a full-service interior architectural design and space-planning firm, was included in Los Angeles Business Journal's 2007 Top 25 Commercial Interior Design List released this month. The 2007 ranking listed Environetics as number 22. Each year, the Los Angeles Business Journal (LABJ) publishes the list of Los Angeles area businesses after extensive research on firms' revenues, clients, and employees.

“Environetics is committed to creating a visual ambiance that reflects each of our clients' core values. We are honored to receive this recognition and view it as a validation of our team's unwavering commitment to our vision,” commented Rodney Stone, president of Environetics. “Environetics will continue to embrace the latest technology, products, and design concepts to create the working environments that support our clients' needs and vision.”

Environetics creates innovative custom interiors for selected market sectors, including financial, entertainment, high tech and corporate office environments. They are known for their service, driven by a thorough understanding of their clients' needs through continuous communication. Their flexible approach extends throughout each project. Some of their most notable clients include Fox Entertainment Group, Fremont General, Countrywide Financial, Insomniac Games, Jamba, Corcoran Group, Gemstar-TV Guide and United Online.

One of the most widely read features of the LABJ is The List, which each week ranks the top businesses in a variety of industries throughout the year, and finally is compiled at year's end into the LABJ's resource – the annual Book of Lists.
