Haley Driscoll Joins Environetics' Healthcare Design Team

Philadelphia, PA – Environetics is pleased to announce that Haley C. Driscoll, IIDA, has recently joined the firm's Healthcare Interior Design team.

Haley is an award-winning interior designer with an accomplished career developing innovative healthcare environments. With more than 20 years of experience, her talents in designing high-performance facilities and expertly managing client relationships make her a valuable addition to Environetics' Healthcare Practice.

"Haley's dedication to delivering the very best in design is unparalleled," said Fletcher MacNeill, AIA, principal and healthcare practice leader. "We're honored to welcome Haley as our lead Healthcare Interior Designer and are excited to offer our clients her excellent skills in addressing their needs and her extensive knowledge of trends in the Healthcare industry."

A graduate of Drexel University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Interior Design, Haley brings an extensive portfolio of healthcare work to the firm's Interior Design Team, with industry leading clients such as Barnabas Health, Virtua Health System, AtlantiCare, Holy Redeemer Health Care, University of Pennsylvania Health Systems, Geisinger Health System, and Cooper University Health System.

Haley's work has earned her recognition from organizations, including the Best Healthcare Award from the Philadelphia Chapter of the International Interior Design Association (IIDA), the prestigious Vista award from the American Society for Healthcare Engineering (ASHE) and the American Hospital Association. A recent award, the Health Facilities Symposium User-Centered Award, reflects her commitment to delivering a design project that reflects all perspectives – patient, family, and practitioners.

Among her many commitments to professional organizations, Haley serves on the Healthcare and Wellness Advisory Council for Interior Design magazine. Her role as advisor blends her expertise on healthcare trends and standards with a focus on designing for wellness across all industry sectors.

Haley was previously employed as a Director of Healthcare Interior Design at Francis Cauffman.
