Environetics Welcomes Sarah Henle, LEED AP, NCIDQ

Philadelphia, PA - Environetics is proud to announce that Sarah N. Henle, LEED AP, NCIDQ certified, has joined the firm as a senior interior designer. Sarah will be the lead designer on full service interior design projects throughout the region, as well as lead the tenant planning efforts in the Philadelphia suburbs. Her project responsibilities will include client interface, program development, concept and design development in addition to coordinating with the Environetics' MEP and structural engineering teams. Sarah will be instrumental in implementing and maintaining sustainable and environmentally responsible practices both on our projects and within the office.

"We take great pride in having Sarah join Environetics and believe she will be instrumental in the growth of our practice" says Judy Channick, Principal.
